Dear Sirs:

Could you help me once again please? I wrote you last year concerning a family-tree problem and you were kind enough to send me what infolmation you could, which I appreciated very much. However since then I have come into possession of more authoritative information, a copy of which I enclose.

I am anxious to find out if there is any record of Joseph Crooks and his family having lived in Terre Haute. My understanding is that Alice Crooks was living in Terre Haute at the time of her mothis (Mrs. Sarah Ann (nee Harris) Collisson) death in 1921

I realize that you do not do genealogical work as such, but I wonder if you could assist me through a search of the City Directories that you probably have in your possession. I also realize that this happened a very long time ago, and that this is really only a shot in the dark, but I sincerely hope that I can make contact with this family.

Can you possibly help me in this respect by providing me with either the present or last known address of any members of the Joseph Crooks family in your city.

Your help is very much appreciated.

Yours truly
Walter F. Harris

Dear Mr. Harris:

I searched through the City Directories for the following years, but could find no Joseph Crooks living here:

1901, 1918, 1921, 1924, 1925, 1927.

Others named Crooks were given, but no Alice or Joseph. At the present time, there are no members of the Crooks family listed in the city directory. There is a Miss Mary M. Crooks, who lived at R. R. 3 Rockville, Indiana. Perhaps you might correspond with her, if you can still reach her there. There was a Crooks family that lived in Parke County in the early days. I did not find any Joseph Crooks listed, but perhaps there may have been one in that family.

Sincerely,

Dear Miss Ross:
Thank you so much for your prompt answer to my inquiry- and I would very much like to have the biog. of James Crooks 1750-1833
I would also like the page of the history of James H. Crabb and Carolyn Briggs- this is not my gr.grandparents but am sure they are related someway.
Also the pages from Mary Crooks- I have corresponded with her off and on for some years- but this may be later material than I have-
And the matierlx on Edward Crabb- have some on him but believe not this that you mentioned-
If I am correct- this makes 9 pages in all.
I am enclosing a check for one dollar- which will also help on postage.

Thank you so much

Dear Mrs. Ross:

I noted an article in current Tri State Trader about the facilities of your library and would like to have information on following- if you have it- charge for same etc.

Death of Experience (Johnson) Crooks Jan 15 1842

Dear Mrs. Ramsey:

I searched in our newspapers on microfilm for notices of the deaths of Nancy Seybold Crooks and Experience Johnson Crooks, but was unable to find them. Our marriage records of Vigo County are for the dates 1818 - 1850.

However, in the book, GREATER TERRE HAUTE AND VIGO COUNTY, by C. C. Oakey, I found an account of Edward R. Crabb, which, I should think, you would like to have. It tells about his parentage and ancestry, and his children and grandchildren. He was born in Ohio July 21, 1815, and emigrated with a horse team to Indiana and settled in Parke county. This account is about three pages long. In the pamphlet file is a folder of the ancestors of Mrs. Glenn Alda Patten Crawford. It contains a page on the Crooks Family, taken from the autobiography of James Crooks, which is in the Indiana State Library. This James was born in 1750, and died in 1833, in Parke County, Indiana, who was born in Franklin [illegible]. In 1963, Mrs. John E. Sayre gave us a copy of her family history. Her name was Dove Crabb, and she was the daughter of Carolyn Briggs and James H. Crabb. I could copy this page if it would be helpful, but do not know what branch of the Crabb family you are interested in.

In 1957, the library had correspondence with a Miss Mary M. Crooks, R. R. 3, Rockville, Indiana, who sent some data about her family. She was the great grand daughter of James N. Crooks and Anna Nevins. There are three pages of this material, which may be helpful. Experience Johnson is given as the wife of Thomas J. Crooks, and it says that John L. Crooks was the son of Thomas Crooks and Nancy Hall.

If you want me to copy this material for you, I will. The charge is 10¢ per page.

Miss Mary M. Crooks-

Replying to your inquiry of Sept. 17th,1957 -

We find many items that would probably be of personal interest to you,in looking thru the Crooks geneology in our records here.

However,our records do note that there is very little available beyond James N.Crooks and his father Samuel. This could be because the Clerk's office in Rockville burned, with all records in 1832,tho these records and information should be available at the State Library in Indianapolis, and we suggest that you contact them.

We have here, in our Indiana Room, in the Emeline Fairbanks Library,an early Atlas of Parke Co.,wherein is an early picture of the Dr.James Crooks residence at Bridgeton, also a picture of a building designated as the Store House of James Crooks at Bridgeton,- there is also some interesting data about Dr.Crooks which you might be interested in seeing.

We thank you for your inquiry, and we shall be glad to show you whatever geneological data we have that might be of interest to you, at any time.

Very Truly Yours

County, Ohio. They moved to Illinois in 1855 settling in McLean County, and renting land which they occupied for some time. Subsequently the father purchased a farm of eighty acres in Arrowsmith Township, where he spent the remainder of his life, passing away in 1897. In politics, he was a Democrat, and in private life and as a citizen, he was much respected. His most estimable widow still survives at the age of eighty years. She is the mother of nine children, five of whom are still living.

L. Franklin Collins was reared to the life of a farmer, and received his education in the common schools. From his youth he has followed farming, and is the owner of eighty acres of land in Section 36, Arrowsmith Township. He is a good farmer and is intelligent, systematic and thorough in his methods of work. On March 10, 1887, he was married to Lucy E. Snyder, who was born near Ft. Wayne, Ind., October 5, 1858, and is a daughter of Henry and Lurana (Morris) Snyder.

Lurana Morris Snyder was born November 11, 1819, in Ohio, and Henry Snyder was born May 13, 1812, in Virginia. About 1837, the latter went to Indiana, near Ft. Wayne, and entered land. In 1839, he went into Ohio where he married Lurana Morris, and together they went back to Indiana. They were the parents of seven children, five of whom are living. They were thrifty and enterprising people. Mr. Snyder died in 1887, and then Mrs. Snyder went to live with a daughter in Michigan, where she passed away in 1904, at the age of 84 years.

L. Franklin Collins and his wife are the parents of two children, Grace, born January 29, 1888; and Mae, born October 18, 1892. Grace was married to Chester Robbins, Christmas Day, 1906.

In politics, Mr. Collins is a firm adherent of the Democratic party. For seventeen years, he has held the office of Drainage Commissioner, and has acted in the capacity of School Director of his district fifteen years.

In fraternal circles, he is identified with the K. of P., being affiliated with the Saybrook Lodge of that order. He and his wife are consistent members of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mr. Collins enjoys the respect and confidence of his fellow citizens to a remarkable degree, and is regarded by all classes as one of the most honorable, conscientious and useful men of the community, in which he has so long taken a prominent and active part.

COLLISSON, Dr. William Vincent (deceased), one of the very first among the pioneer residents of Gridley, McLean County, Ill., a man of upright character and superior mental endowments, and long a most useful member of the community, was born in Herefordshire, England, February 1, 1823, being a son of Thomas Collisson, a well known and respected farmer of that shire. He received his literary education in the high schools of London, and then pursued a course of study preparatory to entering upon the practice of medicine, intending to locate in London. Changing his mind, however, he came to the United States in 1856, and after sojourning a year in Clayville, N. Y., journeyed on to Illinois, and established his home where the town of Gridley now is. No evidences of a settlement were then observable in the vicinity, a solitary house and a small store being the only buildings on the site of the present village. Dr. Collisson bought ground and built a dwelling, which was the first house of two stories to be erected in the place. He was the sole physician in the locality for a considerable period. After practicing a number of years he sold out and purchased a general store, which he conducted until 1870. His health then becoming impaired, he disposed of his mercantile interests, and went to St. Louis, where he resumed professional work, and acquired a very extensive practice, still retaining his real estate in Gridley.

Dr. Collisson was married in England, November 1, 1855, to Sarah Ann Harris, who was born in Salisbury, England, September 29, 1826, and is a daughter of Thomas and Mary Ann (Page) Harris. No children resulted from this union, but Dr. and Mrs. Collisson reared an adopted daughter, Alice, who is the widow of Joseph Crooks. Dr. Collisson departed this life August 27, 1885, dying in St. Louis. After his decease, his widow went back to her native country, where she spent one year, and then returned to St. Louis, remaining there until 1893. In that year she moved to Dixon, Ill., which was her home until May, 1906, when she returned to Gridley. She is greatly esteemed by those of her old friends who survive, and by many acquaintances of later years.

In his political action, Dr. Collisson was a supporter of the Republican party. His religious connection was with the Congregational Church, in which he officiated as a deacon, and of which his widow is a member. Fraternally, he was identified with the A. F. & A. M. A very kindly remembrance is still entertained of Dr. Collisson by those who knew him in Gridley, where he was recognized as a man of admirable traits of character, and a physician of uncommon attainments and skill.

COLTON, Buel Preston.—Life is measured not by duration, but by intensity, and that life is long which answers life's great purpose, although its years may be few and its achievements ended in the full strength of matured manhood. Measured by the seasons as they come and go, the life of Professor Colton was brief; measured by results accomplished, the years were neither brief nor barren. From the time of the completion of his collegiate training until he passed into the Great Beyond, there were granted him about thirty years in which to live and labor, and achieve a realization of those high hopes and aspirations that were the guiding stars of his youth. Within those years he labored with pen and in the class-room, and ever before himself he placed, as the goal of his ambitions, the ex-
